COURT DECLARES DRUNK DRIVER IS HIGHWAY MENACE

Judge Tuttle Warns Offenders That Plea of Guilty Will Not Win Probation Except Under Extenuating Circumstances

Monday Judge Raglan Tuttle firmly stated his conviction that a drunken driver is a dangerous menace to the lives of those upon the highways, and expressed his determination in so far as his authority extends, to keep them off the highways. He pronounced judgement on two persons, a man and a woman, who had pleaded guilty to drunken driving and said:

"The number of defendants that are brought before this Court upon a charge of driving while intoxicated has increased during the past few months at an astonishing rate. The only deterrent which we have at hand is a jail sentence. A drunken driver is a potential killer, and a menace to all men, women and children who are upon the highway in other cars. He should be dealt with as such.

There are cases where some extenuating circumstances exist, but they are few. Those who come before this court must be prepared to take the consequences. A plea of guilty may minimize the sentence, but the guilty party must not expect to be admitted to probation merely on account of such plea. It must be further remembered that every conviction upon this charge, whether by plea of guilty or by a jury, means that the defendants, license to drive is immediately suspended by the State, and he cannot secure another unless he puts up a very large bond.

BENEFIT DANCE FOR VETERANS SATURDAY NIGHT

Arrangements are completed for the big dance, to be given by Banner Mountain Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, at the Olympia Park dance pavilion, on Saturday evening, May 26. Former arrangements were that the dance was to be given at Le Barr Meadows but unforseen circumstances, made the change to Olympia Park necessary.

As this is to be an annual event of the Nevada City Post, and in the poppy season, it will be termed, "The First Annual Buddy Poppy Ball of the Veterans of Foreign Wars." This post is an up and coming organization in this town, considering the fact that it is not yet two years old. The good that it has done already in this community is very gratifying. A number oof disabled veterans and sick veterans have been sent to hospitals through it, taking that responsibility from the city and county. Not only that, but it has done a great deal of relief work, not only to members but to non-members and people that are not actually elegible.

To carry on properly, as it should in parades and meetings, the Post needs colors. That is the purpose of the dance. The proceeds of which will be used for that purpose.

The best of music will be furnished by Russ Ford of Sacramento, and a valuable door prize, in the form of a sunbonnet quilt (handmade) will be given away to the holder of the lucky number.

Tickets are now on sale by any veteran of the organization or the Auxiliary. The general public is urged to co-operate and make this worthy cause go over the top 100 per cent.

COUNCIL DISCUSSES BUILDING ORDINANCE

The city council met in adjourned session last evening to discuss the new building ordinance and further details relating to the new swimming pool. The council is waiting for some model ordinance texts which insurance companies have promised to send them before adopting the final draft of the pending ordinance.

WHAT HO! CITY PARK MAY PROVE GOLD MINE!

The whole town is waiting breathlessly for the results of an assay City Councilman Benjamin Hall is making of some honeycomb quartz uncovered by Y. C. Soda, contractor, who is making the excavation for the municipal swimming pool.

The ledge discovered is about 18 inches wide and the quartz is reported as similar to that mined in earlier days in the same vicinity which yielded rich returns in gold.

SKI CLUB MEETS TO DISCUSS NEW BUILDING PLAN

The Nevada City-Grass Valley Ski club met Wednesday evening in the Chamber of Commerce rooms to discuss building plans. The building committee produced a plaster of paris model of a new club house, but it did not create much enthusiasm, since a casual estimate would put the cost far beyond the club's financial reach.

The plan provided for a T shaped floor plan, the long arm of the T to be a dance pavilion, while the T cross, would contain dressing rooms for men and women, living quarters for the care taker and in the central portion a large lounging room.

The club members asked the building committee to bring in an estimate of the cost.

The proposal of W. H. Griffith that the club build a dance floor as the first step in the erection of a club house, and give a big dance there the night of the Fourth, for the purpose of raising funds, was favorably received.

The building committee consists of Archie Rowen, chairman, Leland Smith, George Carter, Donald Steger and Vernon Stoll.

CREW CLEARING MAYBERT SHAFT

Eight men are now engaged in reopening and cleaning out the main shaft in the Mabert mines property in preparation for active operations soon. The tunnel is now cleaned out about 500 feet, much work being required where the old stopes have caved in. Two shifts are working.

The property contains between 500 and 600 acres of patented land and several unpatented claims.

L. M. Roberts, mining engineer of San Francisco, is superintendent of the mines which are in the Washington district.

EPWORTH ALLIANCE MEETS HERE TONIGHT

The Placer-Nevada County Epworth League alliance will hold their rally at the Methodist church this evening at 7:30 o'clock. Prof. George Colliver, of the College of the Pacific, will be the speaker.

Memorial services will be held at the Methodist church Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Epworth League will meet at 6:30 and at 7:30. The service will be in charge of Alison Janes.

C. W. A. PRESENTS POLICY EXPLAINED TO COMMITTEE

Cecil Dunne, of the San Francisco office of the C. W. A., explained the present policy of the administration regarding relief work, to the Nevada County C. W. A., committee at a meeting at the court house held Wednesday afternoon. The committee consists of: R. J. Bennetts, chairman; Fred M. Miller, secretary; M. H. Argall, Fred Bitney, H. O. Kohler, Harold Robinson and C. W. White. No definite plans were made for the local work but they will meet again on Thursday, May 31, at ten o'clock, at which time the board of supervisors will be present to discuss the various projects with them.

Mrs. Miles Coughlin was a Sacramento visitor Wednesday.

Excavation For City Pool Is 75 Pct. Done

On the western slope of Little Deer Creek, in the muncipal park, the dirt is surely flying for the new swimming pool. With a caterpillar and bull dozer, a steam shovel, and plenty of dynamite, W. C. Soda, contractor, has already completed 75 per cent of the excavation necessary for the pool construction.

Several pine trees have been cut away but a beautiful grove will shade the eastern end of the pool.

Every resident of Nevada City should visit the new municipal park and become acquainted with its natural and varied beauty and its great potentialities for a municipal center for all kinds of sports, recreation, and athletic events.

Foot paths through it will give access to spots ideally situated and secluded for picnics. The lower part of the ten acre area is largely level meadow where tennis and squash courts, and outdoor bowling alleys can be built. There is even room for a baseball diamond in one section.

BILL SIGNED TO SUSPEND MINE ASSESSED WORK

WASHINGTON, May 24.—A bill providing for suspension of the annual assessment work on mining claims, held by location in the United States and Alaska, has been signed by President Roosevelt.

The bill to suspend the assessment work on mining claims was introduced in the senate by Senator Hayden of Arizona. Its adoption in the house was urged by Representative Harry L. Englebright of Nevada City.

The bill was amended to provide for suspension of assessment work only in event the holder of the claim or claims did not pay any income tax this year. Notice must be filed of desire to take advantage of the exemption before noon of July 1st. An individual is allowed a maximum of exemption on six claims and a partnership or corporation on a dozen.

OMEGA GRAVEL EMPLOYS 25 MEN

Twenty-five men are now employed at the Omega gravel mine, owned and operated by A. W. Hoge and associates, in the Washington district. Part of the crew is working in the mine operations and the rest are preparing to run the lumber mill to cut material for flumes and forms for the new dam.

After certain formalities with the government are completed, the newly formed district will issue bonds with which to finance the construction of the tailing dam on the South Yuba river. Included in the district are the following hydraulic mining claims, Union Placer, Scotchman's Creek Placer and Diamond Creek Placer.

There is to be a cessation of hydraulic operations at the Omega mine after June 10, thus making the stream available for fishing and swimming.

POLITICAL FEVOR RAGES AMONG HI STUDENTS

By HARLEY LEETE JR.

Warren Mooers, Dick Marriot, Audrey Davis, and Isabel Dunlap are all candidates for the presidency of the high school student body. All kinds of advertising has made its appearance in the high school halls; paper hats, streamers, placards, paper buttons, all for the purpose of promoting one or another of the candidates. Some budding politicos even go so far as to have "Mooers" printed on one side of their campaign hats, and "Davis" on the other. Nothing like impartiality!

Candidates for minor offices are also in the field. Dick Stevens for vice-president of the student body, Cecilia Woods and Bill Polkinghorn for secretary, and Claris Holland for treasurer. They are all but forgotten, however, in the clamor of the partisans for presidential candidates.

At an assembly recently held at the high school, it was announced that the freshmen would hold their annual picnic next Saturday, at Lake Olympia, from 10:00 a. m. to 7:00 p. m., and that the sophomores would hold theirs from 2:00 to 7:00 p. m., at the same place.

Attorney F. Finnegan has returned from San Francisco.

LARGE THRONGS VIEW EXHIBIT OF STUDENTS WORK

The Nevada City high school held an exhibit at Redmen's Hall yesterday from three to five and from seven to nine. The exhibit continues today.

The hall was completely outfitted with long tables covered with every sort of exhibit showing the progress, skill and deligence of the students' in the several departments. There were the following exhibits:

Mechanical drawing, mathematics, radio, library, typing, physical education, Quill (the high school annual), history, civics, commercial law, Spanish, French and Latin.

Pamphlets, equipment, books, graphs, postures, and essays, were only a few of the products of students labor. A miniature village, electrically lighted was one of the big drawing cards.

At the afternoon session those who attended were entertained by a monologue, excellently done by Cecilia Woods.

The band under the capable direction of L. E. Sweeney, played the following numbers:

Cheerio March—Goldman, Ocean Waves—Crumling; Trailing Arbutus—Garketh; The Silver Chord—O'Neill; Pride of the Land March—Goldman. Excellent violin solos were played by Margaret Wyant between the third and fourth band numbers. They were: Gruneau's "Ave Maria," and "Song of India," from the works of Rimsky Korsakov.

Tea was served and coorsages were presented to the ladies.

At the evening session the orchestra executed excellently several classical numbers.

JUDGE THOMPSON TO ADDRESS CIVIC CLUB

Judge Rolfe L. Thompson will speak at the Woman's Civic Club at the meeting Monday night. Judge Thompson will talk about Hawaii and the club members are looking forward to hearing him with a great deal of pleasure. Each club member may invite a guest.

JANES TO SPRAY TREES FOR PESTS NEXT WEEK

An active campaign will be begun at the beginning of next week by Byron Janes to rid the town of the destructive Elm beetles and tree pests. Mr. Janes graduated from the Collego of Agriculture, of the University of California, with this year's class. With the use of the city pumping equipment he plans to spray the trees at cost to the property owner, of material and labor. Beginning Monday he will canvass the city to obtain names of those who wish to have this work done.

DRIVER, ALLEGED DRUNK, LEAVING COURT, FAINTS

Dr. Walker W. Reed was called Wednesday morning to revive John Blamey, of Grass Valley, from a fainting spell.

Blamey was arrested Tuesday evening on a charge of drunken driving. When leaving Judge Mobley's court, after being released on his own recognizance, to appear for preliminary examination on Monday, he fainted and was not able to go on his way until revived by Dr. Reed.

PULL DOMINIE! PULL FISH! THE RECTOR WINS!

The Rev. Charles Washburn, rector of Trinity Episcopal church is not only a fisherman of men, but also a very successful angler of trout, striped bass or anything that wears fins and scales. In the sloughs below Sacramento this week he hooked 36 pound "striper." For a while it was nip and tuck whether the fish would haul the clergyman into the water or the clergyman would give the fish the air. The ministerial disciple of St. Peter finally landed the big fish which proved to be forty-two inches long. He had a photograph taken—just in case—,and that photograph verifies this fish story.

For Orphan Aid

This youngster is a World War veteran's orphan who lives at the National Home for war orphans maintained by the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States at Eaton Rapids, Michigan. One penny from every poppy sold in the annual sale conducted by the V. F. W. helps maintain this National Home.

BUDDY POPPIES SALE TODAY TO AID VETERANS

Buddy Poppies, symbols of the sacrifices made by America's dead and wounded in the World War, have come to occupy a warm place in the memories and effections of all patriotic citizens. They will be sold in this city beginning at 8 o'clock this morning by members of the Ladies Auxiliary to Banner Mountain Post No. 2655, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

These poppies were first sold in 1921, for the benefit of children in the devastated areas of France and Germany. Using only poppies that were made in France, the V. F. W., with Madame Guerin's assistance conducted the first national distribution of poppies shortly before Memorial Day, 1922.

In February 1924, the V. F. W., registered the name Buddy Poppy with the U. S. Patent Office, and that year Buddy Poppies were made by disabled veterans in various hospitals, and that practice has continued to the present time. Each veteran receiving a percentage from each poppy sold.

There are seven fundamental uses that the proceeds of this sale are put to: namely, for the aid, benefit, and comfort of ex-service men and their dependents; for the maintenance and expansion of the V. F. W. national home for widows and orphans, hospital relief; individual relief for ex-service men, their widows and orphans and hospital entertainment, special equipment for hospital patients; service bureau work; military funerals for ex-service men; acquisition, improvement, and maintenance of burial plots.

It is hoped and urged that the citizens of this community will heed this call of the veterans and do their little bit toward helping them.

City Engineer E. C. Uren, checked up on business buildings in Nevada City Wednesday, surveying the footage of the fronts.

TASKER ODDIE HOME FROM STRENUOUS TRIP

The Gold Mining Association concluded its convention in Denver last Saturday. According to Harry Sears, president of the California Mining Association, the meeting was productive of excellent results.

The Gold Mining Association declined to act on the code for the industry pending further study. The convention opened a concerted drive for a rivival of the mining industry. The association, headed by Ex-Senator T. L. Oddie, of Nevada, state, is a firmly knit, powerful organization, embracing in its membership the country's largest operators.

T. L. Oddie, president of the Gold Mining Association, returned to his summer home at Lake Tahoe, where he will rest a few days after a strenuous trip of several weeks. Mr. Oddie has been in Washington, D. C., in the interest of gold mining and also attended to business in New York City before coming west. He delivered an address at the graduating exercises at the Colorado School of Mines. Sterling silver certificates were delivered to the graduates and T. L. Oddie.

SALINA MINE RESUMES

The Salina quartz mine, above the Gaston property, in the Washington district, has been taken over by the Martin brothers. At present six men are employed in sinking a shaft on a foun foot ledge of good ore. This property once belonged to Dr. A. H. Tickell, of Nevada City.

BANK ON CORNER SOON A REALTY

Final plans for the construction of Bank of America's new building at the north west corner of Broad and Pine streets, have now been completion of the new structure on or before 10:00 A. M., June 4th, 1934.

Commenting on these arrangements, E. M. Rector, vice president, of Nevada City branch, made the following statement: "Complete plans and specifications for the new building have just been received, and as above noted, bids will be received up to 10:00 A. M., Monday June 4, 1934. The wrecking of present building will be received in a bid separate from that of the general contractor. Local contractors maintaining deposits relations with the bank who desire to submit bids, either on the building as a whole, or the wrecking, or sub contracts are invited to do so. Office copy of plans and specifications is available for inspection at the Nevada City branch, and contractors desiring to figure the job may make arrangements for obtaining duplicate copies by applying at the Nevada City branch. As the time for filing bids is short, I would suggest that interested parties communicate with the bank at once."

"The proposed building will be a one story re-inforced concrete structure designed in the pleasing architecture employed in many Bank of America buildings."

"It will occupy the entire lot recently purchased from the Richards Estate and will be approximately 38 by 72 feet in dimensions, all of which will be devoted to banking quarters with the exception of a store on the upper side of the Broad street frontage, which will be available for rental purposes."

"Nevada City will be assured of a building of which it may well feel proud, and it is with no small amount of satisfaction that I am enabled in behalf of the Bank of America to convey the good news that the "Bank on the Corner" will soon be a reality."

Liver, Stomach and Digestive Troubles

Life is not worth living if you are not well. What is the cause of sickness? We have found it and have the remedy in diet and in Herbal treatments. Two thirds of our sickness originates in our kitchen (the liver, stomach and bowels). When the liver is clogged congested and diseased the stomach. Intestines and spleen become involved. In turn the heart is often affected. The venous circulation becomes congested and clogged, causing high blood pressure and all its dangers and misery.

Symptoms often accompany liver and stomach troubles are: gas, acid and pains in the stomach and bowels, jaundice, nervousness, despondency, piles, rheumatism in any part of the body, gallstones with their severe cutting pains, toxemia and blood poisoning. Should these troubles be neglected they are likely to result in more complicated disease such as diabetes, apoplexy, heart disease, nephritis and other troubles.

The purpose of our treatment is to remove the cause of stomach trouble, to cleanse and restore the liver and spleen to normal functioning, to prevent gas formation, equalize the circulation and lower the high blood pressure. It also builds up the hemoglobin of the blood, correcting anemia with its pale waxy appearance and tired listless feeling, giving in its place color to the checks and life and buoyancy to the body. It is a general house cleaner and rejuvenator, sweeping out old aches and pains that have bothered you for years, and leaving the health any joy which should be yours. If you wish to keep young and fit, this is the ideal treatment to take every few years. It is a general renovator and a barrier to old age.

Chinese Herbs have cured many cases of liver and stomach trouble when all other methods have failed.

MANY PAY TRIBUTE TO LATE PETER BUTZ

CAMPTONVILLE, May 22.—At one of the largest funerals held in this section for many years, the people of the surrounding country gathered to pay their last tribute to Peter Joseph Butz, who passed away Saturday at his home in Celestial Valley.

Peter Joseph Butz was born June 16, 1865, and died May 19, 1934, having been born and passed away in the same place at Celestial Valley, and his passing removed another of the old timers, and creates a vacancy that cannot be readily filled. Spending his life in the vicinity he became widely known and very well liked, having a jovial disposition and being a man of sterling character and reputation, having an interest and taking a part in the affairs of the community. He married at an early date, and five children, all of whom are living and 10 grand children survive.

He took a part in the lively activities of the early days, lumbering, when the bull teams were in vogue, did some farming on his place in Celestial Valley, and for the past 15 years has been employed by the State of California in highway maintenance work.

He is survived by a wife, Mrs. Jennie Butz, five sons, Walter Butz, of Nevada City, Chester, of Oroville, Fred, George and Merle, of this place.

Fifty head of the toughest bucking broncs that could be found in the west are in Flying "J" Ranch corrals waiting the opening gun in Marysville's great second annual rodeo and horse show to be presented next Saturday and Sunday, May 26 and 27.

World's champion cowboys and runners-up, as well as a group of hopefuls, will contest under Rodeo Association of America rules for points toward the famous Roosevelt trophy abroad such noted animals as "Idaho Bill," "Pechnocrat," "Alturas Slim," "Broken Bones," "Prison Bar," and a score of others.

Every detail of elaborate preparations has been completed for the entertainment of 10,000 visitors at the Flying "J" on each day, with the assurance from President Ed Johnson, of the Marysville Rodeo Association that the program will run the gamut of color, thrills and carnival from the grand opening pageant at 1:30 o'clock daily until the great climax surprise event that closes each day's show. All grammar school children will be admitted free of charge on Saturday.

Arrivals at the Flying "J" this week included 75 head of genuine Brahma steers and Mexican longhorns for the riding events and the bulldogging contests. Thirty untamed and untouched wild horses from the Nevada mountain ranges have been corralled for the bareback riders and the wild horse race. The stars of the rodeo arena from all parts of the west are converging on Marysville, to be ready for the two big days and for their parts in the several contests for purses aggregating more than $3000.

In addition to strictly western rodeo features the association has listed a number of society horse show events, including a daily performance by the famous fancy horses of Betty Best O'Neil. Relay and Roman races, chariot races, fancy roping and, of course, the cowboy clowns, will be prominent features.

Memories and a Prayer

Aeons ago in peaceful, smiling fields
Bloomed poppies white as drifted snow;
Oft times they blushed beneath the rose of dawn,
Or caught the golden sheen of sunset's glow;
And when the moon her pensive radiance shed,
Serene they stood within the magic light,
With silvered stems and silken petals furled,
Pure, snow white poppies, dreaming through the night.

The ages passed, and then above the land,
The lurid glare of Joan Arc's funeral pyre,
Stained the torn earth with deep and vivid hues,
More lasting then the dyes of Ancient Tyre;
And in the springtime when the poppies came
To weave their spotless tapestries anew,
Lo, on each trembling blossom lay
A drop of blood red dew.

Time winged his flight but there was no surcease,
Foul discord reigned, engendering, strife;
The night skies glowed with wanton fires,
Tumult and woe were rife;
And now the poppies were no longer white—
Each petal told the price of fame;
Above the martyred dead who slept below,
They gently spread their pall of flame.

Then in due time Columbia sent
To Flanders Field her brave—her best;
From north and south they came, from sea girt shores,
And dim Sierras of the west;
The sod was wet with warmer blood—
The blood of that young, ardent race,
Who turned from life when life was sweet,
To meet death face to face.

And thus the poppies gained a richer hue,
While precious memories they keep
To share with us, who knowing loss,
For our young heroes weep.
And, "have you kept the faith?" the poppies plead,
Have these, your brave ones died in vain?
And must the earth forever wear
This deep, empurpled stain?"

And in the twilight when the winds are low,
Remembering lost hours of Calm delight,
The poppies dream of peaceful, smiling fields
And long to wear again their robes of white;
A gentle presence lingers near
To whom the blood red poppies pray,
"Send Lord, the thousand years of peace,
And wash these crimson stains away."

A. MERRIAM CONNER.

NEEDY FARMER AND 10 CHILDREN GIVEN A BOOST

Cecil Allen, of Jasper county, Missouri, with a wife and ten small children, found the road to rehabilitation on a farm which the local relief administration rented to them at $2 a month, and now the Federal Relief Administration is pointing to them as an example that it hopes will be multiplied some hundred thousand times in other states.

The oldest Allen child is now 15. The tenth child was about to be born, and the family was being evicted from their home in Joplin, a year ago, when the relief office found them. To cut off their last source of healthful food, the family cow had gone dry for lack of fodder.

Two dollars a month from the relief administration persuaded the owner of a 40-acre tract to let Allen work the land, but there was no house. Three tents were put up by the relief workers, one of them with board walls and floor. With a team loaned by his brother, Allen worked the tillable portions of the land in garden, truck and corn. After feeding 50 chickens which the relief administration provided, he had more than enough corn for his cow, and managed for a second one on credit. A second brother loaned him two pigs who fattened on the remainder of the corn. Mrs. Allen canned 500 quarts of garden produce.

The three tents were replaced by a three-room house which the relief administration bought in the fall for $20. Allen moved it to his land and re-built it with $75 worth of relief-bought material. It is now a good home, and is flanked by his newly built cellar and well and large cow-shed made of logs.

Last winter, as in pre-depression days, Allen was able to take care of his wife and ten children without direct relief, obtaining a small amount of cash weekly by work on a CWA project. His oldest girl was placed in high school in a nearby town. She and the other nine are rosy-cheeked and healthy for the first time in years.

TRI COUNTY PRINTERS AND PUBLISHERS MEET

The new price determination schedule of the Graphic Arts Code, which is now in effect in job printing establishments, under the N. R. A., was discussed Monday night by the job printers of Nevada, Placer and Eldorado counties, who met at Colfax at their monthly meeting.

C. F. Hurst, code administrator executive for Northern California, was present at the meeting and explained in detail the workings of the code and the price schedule under the code. At the meeting a Code Authority Committee was appointed to administer the code in the three counties composed as follows: H. Henry Argall, of Nevada county, Donald Brill of Placer county, and C. E. Barker of El Dorado county. The following sub-committees were named, one member of the Code Authority Committee being represented on each committee: Labor—W. R. Jeter of Grass Valley, A. G. Thurman of Colfax, C. E. Barker of Placerville. Education—H. M. Leete of Nevada City, V. S. McCann of Auburn, M. Henry Argall of Grass Valley. Fair Practice—J. D. Truscott of Grass Valley, Berle Thomas of Placerville, Donald Brill of Roseville.

Edwin Wilder, San Francisco manager of the California Newspaper Publishers Association, was present at the meeting.

PROGRESS MADE IN SIERRA COUNTY MINES

Frank W. Williams, of Graniteville, is negotiating finances for the installation of a heavier mill on the Von Humboldt mine near Alleghany. Values in this mine range from $34 to $175 per ton, with veins varying from 18 inches to 7 feet. There is a good road to the property.

The Euclid mine near Sierra City, has just been added to the Mountain and Phoenix mines, by a group of San Francisco mining men. H. R. Plate of the Spring Hill mine, between Nevada City and Grass Valley, is interested in the properties. The group of old producers have lain for many years idle. They are on Sardine Lake and supplies are ferried to the property. It is expected that before fall, work will have progressed so far as to require a large crew. Norman L. Wimmler in in charge of operations.

Preparations are under way to open the Keystone and Union Consolidated mines near Gibsonville. P. H. Mason is in charge of operations.

T. J. Anderson, general manager of the Scales Mining Company and P. W. Turner, assistant secretary-treasurer of the company, are starting preliminary work on the big gravel property of Sierra county. Anderson stated there are 20 years of operating in the 60,000,000 yards of gravel on the property. New York capitalists are interested in the ground, which was formerly located by Noel Bean of Strawberry Valley. Debris from the mine operations will be deposited behind Bullards Bar dam.

SPANISH MINE NOW EMPLOYS 45 MEN

Forty-five men are now employed at the Spanish mine above Washington with two shifts in the mine and three shifts in the mill.

Since the reopening of the mine, all work has been centered on the upper mine. At present the company is sinking to develop more ore. Enough ore is blocked out at present according to mine officials, to keep the mine working for three years.

EAGLE BIRD SHAFT IS DOWN 1050 FEET

The Eagle Bird mine management have sunk 250 feet from the 800 foot level in their sinking program, which is to run another 150 feet.

The shaft is sunk on the incline and when the desired depth is gained a cross-cut is to be run to pick up the ledge. Two stations have been cut at 125 foot intervals in the new shaft. All work at the property at present is development. Twenty-five men are employed.

TAILINGS YIELD $3.00 PER TON

Around $3.00 per ton is being reclaimed from the tailings reground in a ball mill on the McDonald lease below the North Star mine. The property is being worked three shifts per day. These tailings are accumulated from original operations in the North Star mine. Cash Cook is superintendent and he is assisted by A. B. Campbell, E. W. Ellis, and C. H. Carmichael.

History, Romance, Fun Found at Lake Tahoe

Tourists, Travelers, and Vacationists of Northern California, need not go far to enjoy a real outing this year. All varities of outdoor life, all types of indoor sports, and all classifications of accomodations are available at the resorts of Lake Tahoe. One need not fear lack of sufficient entertainment, nor an opportunity of acquiring hours of relaxation at many of the quiet resorts along the shores of the "Lake of the Skies." The two choices, rest, or excitement, are difficult to find at the same vacation playground, and it has proven indeed a satisfaction to visitors that this condition prevails. The health-giving qualities of mountain air, and high altitude sunshine, coupled with the most magnificient scenery in the world, are of tremendous attractions, aside from the assurance of hours and hours of entertainment.

This year of all years resort owners are preparing to accomodate more Northern California people than ever before, and are adding to their present attractions, in an endeavor to offer everything in the way of summer vacation amusement to their patrons. Horseback riding, motor-boating, golfing, tennis, and dancing are found at most of the resorts. The entire category of sports is available in a greater degree than ever and elaborate arrangements have been made to accommodate the ever-increasing crowds. Substantial information can be procured as to go for good fishing, the best trails for horseback riding and hiking, better and more modern camping sites, and several accessible golf courses enable you to catch up with your game.

In other words, a new trend has started this year, one that will make Lake Tahoe the most widely-used resort center in the west. Many organizations, and a tremendous number of satisfied vacationists are on their way to spend their summer vacation "Close to Home." It is the vacation spot of Northern California, the finest attraction of all of California, and the Playground Empire of the Western United States. Many stories of historical interest, of Indian lore, and of the Pioneer days, have been written about Lake Tahoe, relating episodes of the past that are gripping in their realism and full of romance and adventure. Visit this Vacation Wonderland this season, and follow in the footsteps of these adventurous pioneers, listen to the tales by the old-timers of happenings in the Sierra-Nevada's. Dream, rest and live with this incomparable background of yesteryear.

A magic wand has touched this hitherto inaccessible wonderland, and modern transportation facilities enable one to reach Lake Tahoe comfortably and speedily, and inexpensively. Present accommodations will surprise you, the service will please you, and their rates are in accord with the new deal. Elsewhere in this newspaper you will find an invitation from those who wish to bring you to Lake Tahoe, show you an enjoyable time, and return you safely, with a desire to return again to the "Blue Gem in the Clouds,"—Lake Tahoe.

WAYMAN BROTHERS ARE SAMPLING THE ALASKA

Bud and William Wayman, brothers, of Pike City, were visitors in Nevada City Saturday, they state that six men are now employed at the Alaska mine. The shaft is being timbered and the old drain tunnel retimbered preparatory to sampling the property. This mine was closed by a heavy flow of water for years. About two years ago 300 tons of concentrates were shipped to the Selby smelter, by leasers who received good returns. Mr. Eisenhauser is superintendent.

IDAHO-MARYLAND CYANIDE PLANT

The new cyanide plant at the Idaho-Maryland mine near Grass Valley, which was built in conjunction with a new 300 ton daily capacity ball mill and flotation plant, is reported working satisfactorily. The new plant is ready to reduce concentrates into bullion for direct shipment to the San Francisco mint.

Washington Digest

National Topics Interpreted
by William Bruckart

Washington. — The NRA Review board's report to President Roosevelt, in which it was outspoken in its criticism of many NRA principles, has created more of a furore in Washington than anything since the administration canceled the airmail contracts without granting the contractors a hearing. In fact, I gather from all indications that the board's attacks were directly responsible for General Johnson's action in releasing small businesses of certain kinds from responsibility under the codes. The far-reaching consequences of the board's criticisms can only be partially evaluated at this time, but the celerity of the Johnson action in meeting some of the charges by the board has led to more than a sprinkling of suggestions that it may be the beginning of the end for NRA.

Report Hits NRA

General Johnson explained, in releasing the minor industries from the codes, that they constituted too small a part of the recovery program to warrant the expense and time involved in administering those codes. Of course, he could not very well admit that NRA was a failure insofar as the "little fellows" are concerned, but nevertheless there are plenty of observers in Washington who so construed his statement. The interesting thing about it was that his announcement was made public after the board's report had been sent to President Roosevelt and after the President had submitted the document to NRA for an analysis of the criticisms.

The board was convinced after hearing appeals for relief by a comparatively small number of individual businesses that some of the codes were having the opposite of the effect intended. Evidence which it gathered seemed to show that the "little fellows" in the business world were being stifled by the larger units, and that was the very thing which President Roosevelt had hoped NRA would prevent.

It is to be remembered that the review board never was wanted by General Johnson and the NRA supporters. The board was the brain-child of several senators and representatives who had received so many complaints from the "little fellows" that they felt the urge to demand some means of review of NRA policies and codes. Its origin might be assumed to have caused the board, headed by Clarence Darrow of Chicago, to feel its mission was one of protection for the little fellow. Having watched it operate as a hearing body, I think I can say its members tried to maintain an open mind. On one occasion, I recall, the board did not mince words in telling the representative of a small business that he could expect no help from it until his own linen had been washed of chiseling and sharp practice.

Thus, the board catapulted a handful of red hot coals into the political arena. Mr. Roosevelt dodged the first bombshell by sending the report to Attorney General Cummings, to the Federal Trade commission and to General Johnson for what he called "an analysis." Newspaper correspondents thought they could analyze the thing, but they did not get the opportunity. Their discussion these days gives rise to the thought that they will be sitting around awaiting a chance to "analyze" it to the full extent of their powers when they do get hold of it.

Political leaders among those opposed to NRA appear to be delighted with the sudden turn of events. Any official criticism of NRA, they declare, will give them license to voice their own views as well as to repeat what the official agency had to say about that phase of the administration's program.

As a result of the fresh outburst of trouble for NRA, I made a number of inquiries around NRA headquarters which are continuously crowded with representatives of businesses who are seeking to find out what to do. These individuals, to a man, were thoroughly confounded and confused. They were, in many instances, unable to determine what to do as to many business practices; they could not get complete instructions or interpretations, nor were they able to learn the NRA attitude in an advisory way on propositions on which they desired rulings. Having observed the job that General Johnson and his NRA staff is trying to do, I can understand why these various questions can not be answered. They simply have so much work to do that it is almost a physical impossibility to get it done. But to me, that fact tells the story of the weakness inherent in any attempt to codify practices of businesses, national in scope, from a Washington bureau.

Business Confused

As an exposition of the problem in another way, I learned that one great corporation is operating under 51 codes. There is one department store here in the city of Washington that is operating under and responsible to 11 code authorities. One corporation, relatively small in size and doing a selling business in not more than five eastern states, has had to sign a total of 14 codes. All of this is because of the diversification of the business.

As far as I can see, if every type of industry must have a code, there is no way out. A business that touches more than one line is going to be under code for each line touched and it will have to be so if codes are to be a part of our economic structure. Yet, as the review board's report indicates, there is a certain hardship developed by such a system that is rather difficult to defend.

My inquiries, however, brought out another fact that to my mind is highly important and about which little has been written. That is the expense which these businesses must bear in connection with the codes and attempts to find out what is expected of the firms who have been given the blue eagle of NRA membership.

There is not a day goes by that NRA officials do not receive flocks of business men who come from far and near for interviews, for conferences on proposed codes, for interpretation of codes already written, for talks with the authorities as to whether exceptions can be made to the universal rules laid down in the codes, and for the answers to a thousand-and-one other questions. The expense of those trips to Washington, the hotel bills, the time away from their jobs, all of these things have to be borne by the individuals, businesses or corporations interested.

But those expenses appear small when arrayed alongside the code assessments that are levied on the individual businesses which must pay the cost of code authorities governing their particular lines. When there is more than one code applicable to a firm, that firm pays assessments to code authorities for every line that is covered in their operation. And believe me, it runs into money!

The resignation of Everett Sanders of Indiana, as chairman, and the impending meeting in Chicago of the Republican national committee has served to focus a spotlight on that political agency which it has not drawn since the days of the 1932 campaign. As a matter of fact, the Sanders resignation has stirred up more discussion and has caused more Republicans to show their faces than some folks thought were still alive. It has demonstrated that there is life in the G. O. P. yet. But the job ahead of it is one of finding how the latest strength can be utilized under a solid leadership, and that means the first task is to find that leader for national chairman.

Sanders' Resignation

Thus far, it can be said there is an entire lack of unanimity among the Republican national committee. They appear not to have any idea as to the identity of the man who should be elected to head the party organization.

Undoubtedly, the weakness of the Republican position at this time is lack of leadership. A real leader, as far as I hear discussion of the subject, simply does not yet appear on the horizon. If it were not for the various crosscurrents, it would be natural to expect that the several factions could get together and operate harmoniously. That, sad to relate, apparently is impossible. The "old guard" doesn't relish the idea of surrendering power.

Much criticism has been heard of the Republican leadership in congress during this session. It has been said the leadership has been spineless, and of the do-nothing kind. But the consensus around Washington would seem to be that Senator McNary of Oregon, in the senate, and Representative Snell of New York, in the house, have been impotent largely because the Democratic majority was so huge that they could never really voice the minority position.

I have heard some of the Democrats assert that the Republican party can never come back; that it is through. Nowhere does history justify such a prediction. It is necessary only to go back to the campaign when Warren G. Harding was elected to the Presidency, or to the overwhelming defeat of Alfred E. Smith by Herbert Hoover. In each case, some of the Republican leaders were so short sighted as to say that the Democrats were through. Time has proved such prognostications to be utterly foolish. It likely will make the present unwise predictions of Democrats look the same way in the course of a few years. It seems to me to be unwise at any time to consign a political party to a grave unless there is no more blood left in the carcass.

Prediction Foolish

From what I can hear about the Republican committee's financial condition, the plight of the Democrats a few years ago can be regarded as only slightly serious. Neither the national committee nor the combined senatorial and congressional committee can make any plans for a fight because it takes money to make the mare go.

Whatever the results are of the coming election, however, it is apparent now that Republican leadership first must be established. The Democrats have that leadership in Mr. Roosevelt, but they have to accept responsibility also so that they can expect to be attacked. Just as happened during the Hoover regime, the "outs" can make the fur fly for the "ins" if they develop leadership.

Fabric Gloves Add Zest to the Mode

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

WHEN it comes to exciting events in the fashion realm the scene centers around fabric gloves and the matching accessories which go with them. The new gloves reveal style potentialities such as the rank and file of us never dreamed could exist in connection with what once upon a time we were wont to regard as mere hand coverings, with perhaps a little variation in design and stitching and color now and then.

However, here on the stage of fashion this very moment speaking for themselves is an endless array of gloves made of every material known to the ingenuity of man and revealing a wealth of ideas which are simply breathtaking in point of originality and audacious styling.

The importance of cotton for frocks and gowns, for smart ensembles and for suits started the furor by creating a need for gloves to co-ordinate in fabric and feeling with the new costume for daytime wear. This movement toward unique fabric gloves received additional impetus from the great French couturiers. With utmost enthusiasm Chanel and Talbot, those two foremost originators of sportswear vogues, sponsor fabric gloves with matched accessories for spring and summer. So sound and altogether intriguing is the idea, it is spreading like wildfire throughout fashion's domain.

The interpretations of this new mode for matching accessories are legion. Just a glimpse of the new gloves of linen with gingham printed linen cuffs together with a tailored flower of the printed linen to wear on coat lapel or at the shoulder of a sports frock (illustrated to the right) and your peace of mind will be destroyed until you become the happy possessor of just such or its equivalent.

Perhaps you will covet even more a white scarf collar of open basket-weave cotton, crossbarred in blue at the ends and edges with white gauntlet gloves of crinkled cotton crepe with deep pointed cuffs of matching basket weave, such as the figure seated in the picture is wearing.

Chamoisette, that practical standby, is glorified anew this season in gloves that feature pin-checked gingham cuffs lined with plain gingham, with matching reversible collar-scarf in the monotone and checked fabric. It appears also in gloves with cuffs and matching tailored bow for shoulder or neckline made of gayly printed cotton. A most attractive accessory set of crocheted string features gloves and scarf of white, with the flared ends of the scarf and the flare cuffs of the gloves in three graduated shades of blue.

But do not think that your new fabric gloves simply must have matched accessories to be smart. There are so many materials and so many styles in glove fashions in general, it is impossible to do more than enumerate the important trends. Watch for the very sheer milanese chiffons when the hot weather comes. They are in dark shades as well as white and are the coolest ever as well as wonderfully good looking.

Many of the new gloves in a variety of fabrics reflect the tailored vogue. Note the group pictured in the inset. Below to the left is a glove of dull luster diagonal oatmeal-type fabric in a slip-on style; above it, a washable chamoisette open cuff gauntlet with smart wood button at the wrist; next (top to the left) a sansheen slip-on with two tiny pearl buttons at the wrist and with scalloped edge; in the center, another chamoisette glove with novelty stitching trim in leaf design around the cutout edge of the open cuff (very smart in navy). Above to the right short slip-ons in fine honeycomb knit with rib-knit frill edging; below, gloves featuring a pleated self-fabric frill and diagonal stitching; and concluding the group a most outstanding type—crochet string slip-ons with lacy cuffs which look as if hand crocheted.

GREEK AND ROMAN TREND IN SANDALS

The shoe designers, who are taking themselves as seriously these days as the old masters immortalized in the Metropolitan museum, have delved into the ancient history of many nations to produce the array of sandals and ghillies, bejeweled dance slippers and tailored pumps that confront the modern woman whose grandmother used to be contented with one good serviceable pair of shoes a year.

The up-and-coming deb this season will wear sandals modeled after those worn by Helen of Troy, or beach slippers such as once adorned the pink-tipped toes of Cleopatra.

Authentically Greek and Roman in their inspiration are the new sandals worn not only for beach wear, but to complement any kind of summer sports costume. They're simple affairs made only of a couple of straps and a sole, leaving the toes altogether untrammeled.

The footgear of a monk in Capri provided the inspiration for the monk sandal which promises to be the rage of the summer resorts.

"In the Money" Silks for Spring Latest in Paris

The newest things in printed silks for spring are called "In the Money" prints. They represent the gold-silver inflation and noninflation arguments, but without taking sides.

They are made in a series of eight patterns of five colors each—40 different colors in all. Those of us who have had glimpses of them agreed that they were the last word in the New Deal for dining out, tea dances, country clubs, and even the "Tag End" dresses for those occasions when anybody might wear anything and yet nobody seems exactly sure of what will be the right thing.

QUILTED VELVET

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

The call of the evening mode is for unique and fanciful capes. The lovely model pictured here is of quilted translucent velvet in a delectable leaf green. The Elizabethan collar is stiffened to flare away from the throat so as to be perfectly comfortable at the same time that it is extremely flattering.

Colored Tweeds

Those soft camel's-hair tweeds are being woven now in such combinations as a dull rose-purple with a tan check.

Sea Shell Slippers

Abalone sea shell is the inspiration for some new evening slippers in opaline, satin luster.

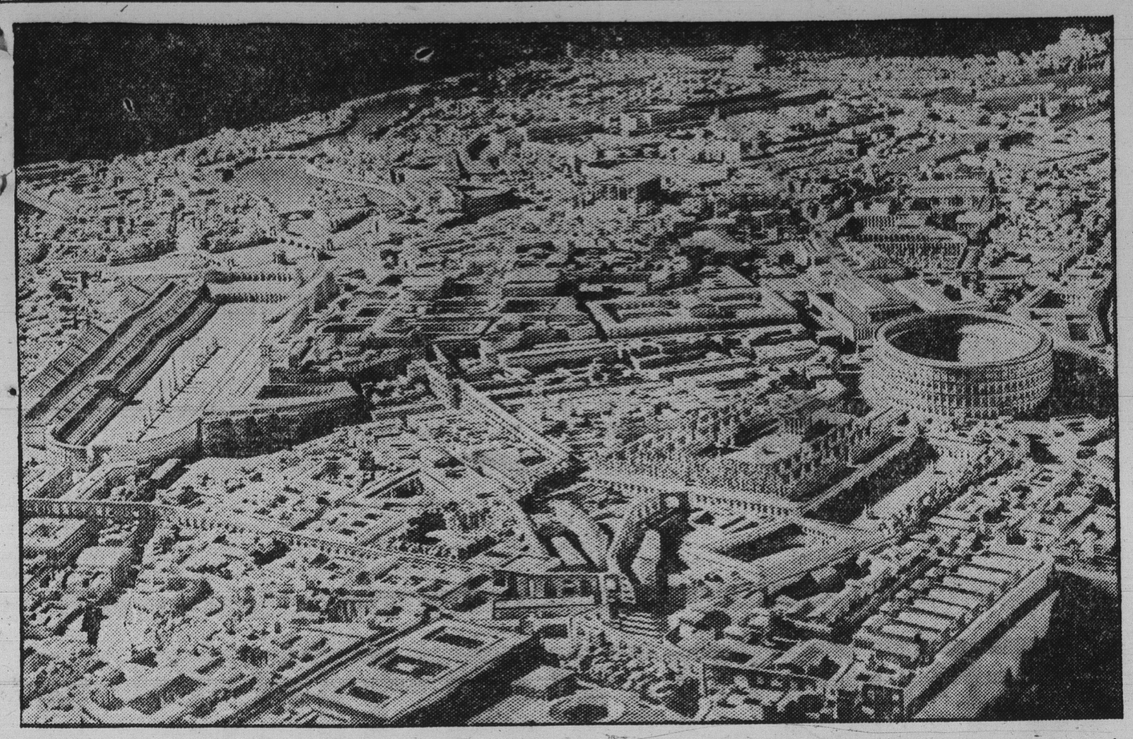
Rome as It Was in the Days of the Caesars



PAUL BIGOT, member of the Institute of France, constructed this beautiful model of the city of Rome in the time of the Caesars, on a scale 400 times smaller than the actual dimensions of the buildings. At the left is the Circus Maximus, with the Coliseum at the right, above which is the Imperial Forum with the temples of Constantine and Venus. The Tiber follows the edge of the model at the top of the picture, past the Palatine and the Capitol.

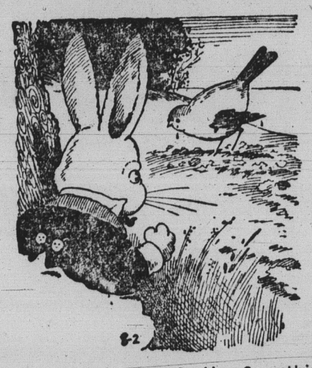
BEDTIME STORY FOR CHILDREN

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

PETER FINDS A FRIEND IN TROUBLE

SEEING Farmer Brown's Boy coming through the Old Orchard, Peter Rabbit decided that that was no place for him, so he scampered for the Green Forest, lipperty-lipperty-lip. Just within the edge of the Green Forest he caught sight of something which for the time being put all thought of Farmer Brown's Boy out of his head. Fluttering on the ground was a bird than whom not even Glory the Cardinal was more beautiful. It was about the size of Redwing the Blackbird. Wings and tail were pure black, and all the rest was a beautiful scarlet. It was Redcoat the Tanager. At first Peter had eyes only for the wonderful beauty of Redcoat. Never before had he seen Redcoat so close at hand. Then quite suddenly it came over Peter that something was wrong, and he hurried forward to see what the trouble might be.

Redcoat heard the rustle of Peter's feet among the dry leaves and at once



"What Is It, Redcoat? Has Something Happened to You?"

began to flap and flutter in an effort to fly away, but he could not get off the ground.

"What is it, Redcoat? Has something happened to you? It is just Peter Rabbit. You know you don't have anything to fear from me," cried Peter.

The look of terror which had been in the eyes of Redcoat died out. He stopped fluttering and simply lay panting. "Oh, Peter," he gasped, "you don't know how glad I am that it is only you. I've had a terrible accident, and I don't know what I am to do. I can't fly, and if I have to stay on the ground some enemy will be sure to get me. What shall I do, Peter? What shall I do?"

Right away Peter was full of sympathy. "What kind of an accident was it, Redcoat, and how did it happen?" he asked.

"Broadwing the Hawk tried to catch me," sobbed Redcoat. "In dodging him among the trees I was heedless for a moment and did not see just where I was going. I struck a sharp-pointed dead twig and drove it right through my right wing."

Redcoat held up his right wing and, sure enough, there was a little twig sticking out from both sides close up to the shoulder. The wing was bleeding a little.

"Oh, dear, what ever shall I do, Peter Rabbit? What ever shall I do?" sobbed Redcoat.

"Does it pain you dreadfully?" asked Peter.

Redcoat nodded. "But I don't mind the pain," he hastened to say. "It is the thought of what may happen to me."

Mother's Cook Book

SEVERAL GOOD THINGS

FOR a warm day try the following cooling and delightful dish:

Jellied Consomme.

Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of gelatin in one-fourth of a cupful of cold water. Dissolve in one quart of hot consomme. Pour into bouillon cups and chill, or pour into a shallow pan and when chilled cut into cubes or beat with a fork, before serving in the cups.

Cucumber Jelly.

Grate enough peeled cucumbers to make a pint, season with salt, pepper, paprika, olive oil and vinegar—two of oil and one of vinegar. Add one teaspoonful of gelatin softened in two teaspoonfuls of cold water, dissolve over hot water until soft, then add to the cucumber and mix well. In the bottom of each individual mold, place a half walnut meat, then pour in the cucumber mixture. Serve turned out on lettuce leaves and top with a teaspoonful of mayonnaise. A little grated onion added to the cucumber will improve it for most people.

Melba Pastry.

Take one cupful of oven-dried crumbs, when a golden brown put through a food chopper. Mix well with one-third of a cupful of sugar, one teaspoonful of cinnamon and four tablespoonfuls of butter. Line a large pie plate with the mixture and bake in a slow oven for 20 minutes. Allow the crust to cool, then pour in the cooled filling.

Banana Custard.

Slice three ripe bananas. Cook two beaten eggs, one-fourth cupful of cake crumbs and one cupful of milk two minutes or until the custard lightly coats the spoon. Add two teaspoonfuls of lemon rind and stir in the bananas. Pour into a greased baking dish, set in a pan of hot water and bake until the pudding is set. Cover with a meringue and brown.

Deviled Crab.

Melt three tablespoonfuls of butter, add two tablespoonfuls of flour and when well blended add one cupful of thin cream, one teaspoonful of paprika, a dash of cayenne, two egg yolks, two cupfuls of crab meat, one-half teaspoonful of lemon juice, two-thirds of a cupful of buttered bread crumbs. Mix and cook three minutes, place in a buttered ramekin and cover with buttered crumbs. Place a thin slice of lemon on top of each serving. Bake until brown. Garnish with parsley.

MY CABIN

By ANNE CAMPBELL

I SHALL have a cabin with no pictures in it.
There will be wide windows gleaming in the sun.
Every oaken frame will hold a landscape in it,
Changing in the morning and the setting sun.

Nothing ever painted will excel the splendor
Of the lovely scenes that bless my weary gaze.
Dawn will come with fingers silver-tipped and slender,
And the midnight moon will leave her misty ways.

Paintings cannot tempt me when the hills and valleys
March outside my window in eternal pride.
From my hilltop cabin where the east wind dallies,
I shall see the treasures Time has deified.

Do YOU Know—

That in its beginning the American newspaper was a very small affair. The Boston News-Letter, one of the first newspapers published in America, April 24, 1704, was printed on half a sheet of paper 7½ x 12½ inches. It contained one advertisement—that of the proprietor.

"British Isles"

Seen at the fashion promenade of the Dress Operators' League of America in New York was this symphony in brown and white called "British Isles." It is a summer costume consisting of a white linen crash three-quarter-length coat, brown linen shirt, linen tie and brown felt hat.

"Napoleon of the Stump"

The title "Napoleon of the stump" was frequently applied to William McKinley, who had a supposed resemblance to the Emperor Napoleon and who, during the Harrison campaign, traveled more than 16,000 miles and in his own first campaign made over 300 speeches.
